

SAN RAFAEL, CA, FEBRUARY 12, 2021 – Do you wish your life had more glamour, fashion sparkle? Do you enjoy/wear/collect beautiful and ornate vintage fashion and accessories? Do you still enjoy them regardless of the pandemic?

If your answer is yes, then Fine Estate Auction Gallery in San Rafael maybe able to grant your wish with their curated estate sale and auction that includes vintage purses, designer costume jewelry, antique Kashmir shawls, wedding kimonos and Victorian textiles from Rhoma Young Antiques and RY Private Collections as a featured part of a sale on Sunday, February 21 at their Marin Gallery and Showroom.

The sale features a selection from the Rhoma Young Antiques collection of Whiting and Davis vintage purses, reticules in exotic leathers, and brocade clutches in bead, petit point, silk and mesh. It also features 20th century fashion pieces by Judith Lieber and Salvatore Ferragamo.

There are fine and costume jewelry suites by iconic makers. The sale showcases one of the largest collections of exuberant Stanley Hagler jewelry ever to come to auction. Stanley Hagler was an assistant to famed jeweler Miriam Haskel. He branched out on his own in 1953 with Wallis Simpson, Duchess of Windsor, as one of his first clients.

Prized for their gracious designs, fine weaving and embroidery, Kashmir shawls have been collected and coveted for centuries. It's said that Napoleon Bonaparte gifted Kashmir shawls to both of his wives. The collection in this sale includes a retrospective of traditional architectural, floral and paisley patterns.

According to Holly Anderson, gemologist and staff Specialist/Jewelry at Fine Estate Auction Gallery, "The opportunity to represent such a large and lovingly curated collection of jewelry, textiles, and handbags is the dream of any auction house. Rhoma's eye for the beautiful and innovative brings Fine Estate an incredible assortment of treasures that span over one hundred years of glamour and fashion design."
